In the Romanian educational system and especially in the field of special education there is a growing interest for inclusive education. Several legal maxims had been developed to regulate and legally redress the educational conditions of the special need people. The aim of this regulation is to facilitate the educational and social inclusion of the people suffering of these conditions. Our paper outlines the early attempts, forms, implementation difficulties, future educational plans of inclusive education and the alignment of the Romanian educational system to the international standards concerning special educational norms.
